In Home Day Training Programs:

*Every program is customizable to suit the specific needs of each dog and its family.

Keep in mind that dog training is a process. It is daily routine and proper communication with our dogs. It is hard work creating a relationship built on trust and fellowship. Just like everything in life the more you put into it the more you get out of it.

Private lessons are a great option for me to teach you how to train your dog. A large majority of dog training is repetition. Like any skill, teaching your dog to live appropriately in human will take lots of practice. Each private in home lesson will run 60-90 minutes.

Day Training is an opportunity for me to take on some of this repetition for you. While you're at work or otherwise occupied I will work with your dog in an appropriate setting to hone his skills. Each “day" is 3 hours, about as much as any dog could work at once. Every day session is accompanied by an update and any applicable homework.

The combination of lessons and day training will make sure that you know as much as your dog does. The ratio of day training to private lessons (how much time is one on one trainer and dog, or spent teaching you to teach your dog) will depend on how much you are able to practice on your own. The more I do for you the faster the process goes.

Please Note:

- These are a very generalized guideline of what can be accomplished in each amount of time.
    - The obedience programs are designed for a dog with limited ‘bad’ behavior. Please recognize that the more time we spend fixing behavior problems, or focusing on puppy raising issues, the less time we have to teach your dog to be perfectly obedient.
- Each program will be modified to your specific situation.
    - This is the handout I give to every client, no matter their situation. We will, of course, focus on your specific needs.
- The main difference between programs is not just what commands your dog learns but to what degree of fluency.
    - I.E. can your dog perform without treats in high distraction situations? Or have we only had time to practice in the living room?
- This is not a guarantee of results. I can promise to be there to assist you and can pass on all of my wisdom but it will ultimately be up to you to train your dog.
